

responding to communities and movements who approach us for support, not reaching out to folks who may want our support.

