

Philosophy and the Environment PHIL 333 / ES 314 Fall 2021
Humans and nature in the times of climate change

This course outline is copyright © Thomas Heyd

Humans-nature interconnection, Alexander von Humboldt (1769-1859), "Le Chimborazo vu depuis le plateau de Tapia", Vues des Cordillères, et monumens des peuples indigènes de l'Amérique (Paris: Schoell, 1810-1813)

Provisio(l (v)-1 0 ud)19 tslit2@.28004 Tw 0.6.6.1(d-0l)-00 1 Tf0 Tc 0 Tw ()

To receive a grade for the group work experiential project group members have to comply with ALL four of the following ste

I reserve the right to use plagiarism detecti

Health Services and Centre for Ac

Friday 23 Sep: required film, Uranium
Wednesday 21 Sep: Exploration of groups and topics
23 Sept: last day for adding courses

Week 4
26 Sept – 2 Oct
Daoist and Buddhist views of nature
Readings: short extracts from Tao Te Ching, Goodman, Schumacher
Friday 30 Sept: Final date for groups to form and select topics and sites

Week 5
3-9 Oct
Contemporary views of nature
Readings: Myers, Baxter, two extracts from Wulf on Alexander von Humboldt's science
Optional reading: Russow, "Why do species matter?"
Friday 7 Oct: Plan of action for group work required

Week 6
10-16 Oct
Exploitation vs. community control of natural environments +
Review and Mid-term Test
Readings: Hardin, Monbiot
Monday 10 October, Thanksgiving Day
Wednesday 12 October, Columbus' encounter with the Americas
Friday 14 Oct: MID-TERM TEST

Week 7
17-23 Oct
Ecofeminism, and the deep-ecological "extended self"
Readings: Warren, Shiva, Naess
Optional reading: Amigo, "Brazil's Radical Farmers"

Week 8
24 -30 Oct
Technology and a new ethic, land ethic and Indigenous adaptations
Readings: Jonas, Leopold, Oliver-Smitm3.9 m[R3.1(t)-1 (ee c)0037(Oh8.8 (on)Tmñ)0.6 (hg)7 1(L)5.2 (s)]JETQ2 0 0 rg

