

To help laboratory users reduce waste and promote sustainable practices, the University provides the following laboratory glass recycling avenues.

For the safety of those collecting and recycling the glass, it is important to ensure that laboratory glassware is cleaned appropriately prior to disposal for recycling. Containers that have held acutely hazardous or reactive wastes must be rinsed with a suitable solvent and then placed in the fume hood to

