

Hamid Dabashi

... and the pursuit of Public Happiness: Thinking with Hannah Arendt

Free Public Lecture
October 25, 2012 | 7-9 pm |
UVIC SSM A110

Hamid Dabashi, Hagop Kevorkian Professor of Iranian Studies and Comparative Literature at Columbia University in New York, current affairs essayist, commentator in major international newspapers and regularly featured on AlJazeera,CNN, and CBC.

How can we make sense of the fundamental political change that has swept the Arab and Muslim world in recent years?

Can we characterize the political transformation as a “revolution”?

Please RSVP to jswift@uvic.ca
by October 22nd

