

Salt in snow:
A villain affecting the accuracy of Arctic sea ice thickness estimates from radar satellites?

Vishnu Nandan

Post-Doctoral Researcher, Department of Geography, University of Victoria

Radar remote sensing has demonstrated its capability to characterize basin-scale Arctic sea ice thickness.