

from readings and to build core knowledge and skills to help you with your final design brief. Unless specified otherwise, each journaling assignment is due one hour before the start of class on the day it is due. An in-class assignment is due midnight on the same day. Anything later than that will receive an automatic 5% deduction for the first 23 hours. 24 hours to six days late will receive a 10% late deduction. Any assignment that is more than one week late will receive a 20% late deduction. That said, if you are unwell, please let me know. Also, note that for the 2022 term, students are not required to provide medical documentation to support their request for academic concessions. Finally, remember that these deadlines are aimed at helping you avoid last minute stress, and to build skills

PLAGIARISM

All class assignments should be prepared by the student(s) submitting the assignment. Plagiarism, or any other form of academic dishonesty, will not be tolerated in this course. Plagiarism consists of: (a) submitting someone else's work as your own without the use of proper citation or (b) paraphrasing another's ideas without acknowledging the author's work through citation. The use of an editor, whether paid or unpaid, is prohibited unless the instructor grants explicit written authorization. If you have any questions concerning matters of plagiarism, please see the following link:
