

Participation, Politics, and Technology: Agrarian development in postneoliberal Bolivia

Diana Cordoba

Postdoctoral Research Associate, State University of New York,
College of Environmental Science and Forestry

The election of Evo Morales—an indigenous and coca leader—and his Movement Toward Socialism (MAS) party became the most important political milestone in Bolivia's recent history.