

Geography Grad Students
Geography, UVic

With more than 75 graduate students in our Department, there is research spanning from sustainable livelihoods to remote sensing, coastal dynamics, and ecology. This talk will showcase some of the research projects currently being addressed by graduate students within the Geography