and Board Chambers, Jamie Cassels Centre, Room

K. Hall reported on meeting with the new Minister of Post-accommodations. E. Croft mentioned a new VPAC webpage for instructors that includes resources, principles and approaches, and updates for academic accommodation.

E. Croft reported that instructors will likely receive additional information in May on what to expect for the fall term and any longer-term strategies. She noted this would be in addition to providing regular updates to Senate.

A member of Senate asked for an update on the midterm examination pilot report. E. Adjinn-Tettey explained that a report would be provided Senate for its May meeting.

Another question was asked regarding any possible clarity on how the Provost's office expectnng instrctors to handle accommodations. E. Croft responded that it would not be possible to eliminate the need for individual accommodatn. E. Adjinn - noted that a new committee would be established for further implementation, including high-level priorities over five years.
